

GIFT City to have Two More Metro Stations; GSRTC Terminal also on Cards

At 9:00 am, the Metro departing APMC Vasna for GIFT City is already packed, as it is every weekday. Most commuters are young professionals in their twenties and thirties, many of whom get off at the PDEU station. By 10:08 am, the train reaches its last stop—GIFT City Metro Station—and the rush begins. Passengers step out briskly, heading straight toward the cluster of shuttle buses waiting outside. These buses, operated free of cost, ferry workers to the various office zones inside GIFT City. A few golf carts also weave through the station area, picking up passengers for short hops.
