

AMC mandates TPC tester for eateries; used cooking oil to be diverted for biodiesel

In a move aimed at improving food safety and promoting green fuel, food business operators (FBOs) using large quantities of cooking oil will now be required to monitor its quality through digital testing and dispose of it through authorised channels.

.....