

Work Starts on New Integrated Terminal at Ahmedabad Airport

Construction of the New Integrated Terminal Building (NITB) at Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel International (SVPI) Airport in the city has begun, a TOI report said.

As per the report, the airport operator is targeting completion and operational readiness by 2029-30. It is learnt that the first phase of the new terminal is being developed adjacent to the existing domestic terminal, extending from the Terminal 3 (T3) side. According to submissions made by the airport operator to the Airports Economic Regulatory Authority (AERA), the project is estimated to cost over ₹3,000 crore.

As per the report, Terminal 3 has been largely vacated to facilitate the project, and work to mark out the construction area and build the peripheral structure is already underway.
