

Gujarat Police to get 500 new high-tech 112 Jan Rakshak vehicles

The Gujarat Police will add 500 new 'Janrakshak' vehicles to its fleet as part of efforts to strengthen emergency response and improve citizen security across the state.

Deputy Chief Minister Harsh Sanghavi will dedicate the new vehicles to the Gujarat Police on August 25. With the addition of the 500 vehicles, the total number of 'Janrakshak' vehicles deployed across Gujarat will rise to 1,000.

The expansion comes in view of the state's growing population, rapid urbanisation and large geographical area. The vehicles will be available for emergency response services 24 hours a day.

The 'Janrakshak' project, which was launched 11 months ago, has so far provided more than 11.04 lakh integrated services, including immediate response to over 6.74 lakh police emergency incidents.
